

ECONA Privacy Policy

The Eidsvollsmen Council of North America (ECONA) collects genealogical information from North America's descendants of Norway's Eidsvollsmen Founding Fathers as outlined in our Mission Statement below. We neither give away nor sell any personal information to third parties.

MEMBERSHIP LISTS

We make no membership lists available to third parties.

WEB FORMS OR E-MAIL

Personally identifying information that you provide by e-mail or web forms will be used only for such purposes as are described at the point of collection, such as to send information to you, or to respond to your questions or comments.

LINKS TO OTHER SITES

Our web site contains links to many other web sites. When you go to another site, you are subject to the privacy or security policies of that site. ECONA cannot guarantee the accuracy of information provided there.

CHANGES TO THE PRIVACY POLICY

ECONA reserves the right to change the policy on the use of information collected. Any changes in policy will be noted in a revised Privacy Policy statement and will be posted at least 30 days prior to implementation.

MISSION STATEMENT

Our mission is to establish and maintain a collection of books, periodicals, documents, reproductions and other genealogical materials relating to Norwegian-American descendants of Norway's Founding Fathers at Eidsvoll, Norway on 17 Mai 1814; to collect, preserve, research and publish materials concerning Eidsvollsmen genealogy; conduct council meetings, conferences and seminars to educate members of Eidsvoll's history of 17 Mai 1814. The annual Council Membership Assembly will be held each year on or near 17 May.
